

Shavings

Editor: mjbarrow52@gmail.com

Laurieton Men's Shed

Shed Phone 5519 8019

Vision Statement: The Laurieton Men's Shed aims to be the venue of choice for men of all ages in the local community; to share their interests, skills and ideals in a spirit of mateship and a place to benefit their health through participation in a variety of activities with a sense of belonging.

Laurieton Men's Shed remains CLOSED.

We as a shed are still waiting for guidelines from State Government as to staged re-opening of our shed. The Management Committee is seeking clarification of the restriction rule changes which commence on 13th June. Quite probably when we do re-open some rules will have to be put in place that we didn't have to have before the onset of the virus.

Happenings Around Your Shed.

Past activities you might have missed:

The shed has not been totally dormant during the lockdown.

Storage capacity has been increased by the delivery and installation of a 40ft shipping container on 14th May. Thanks to those who were involved in preparation of the site and concrete footings, and Peter Atkins for the fine adjustment of the container position.

For a Laugh.

When Bob found out he was going to inherit a fortune when his sickly father died, he decided he needed a woman to enjoy it with. So one evening he went to a singles bar where he spotted the most beautiful woman he had ever seen.

Her natural beauty took his breath away. "I may look like just an ordinary man," he said as he walked up to her, "but in just a week or two my father will die, and I'll inherit 20 million dollars."

Impressed, the woman went home with him that evening. Three days later, she became his stepmother.

LARRYS FUNNY POSTINGS

Prediction: There will be a minor baby boom in 9 months, and then one day in 2033, we shall witness the rise of THE QUARANTEENS.

Three engineers and three accountants are travelling by train to a conference. At the station the three accountants each buy tickets and watch as the three engineers buy only a single ticket.

"How are three people going to travel on only one ticket?" asks an accountant.

"Watch and you'll see" answers an engineer.

They all board the train. The accountants take their seats, but all three engineers cram into a rest room and close the door behind them. Shortly after the train has departed, the conductor walks through the carriage collecting tickets. He knocks on the restroom door and says "Ticket please". The door opens just far enough for a hand to emerge holding a ticket. The conductor takes the ticket and moves on. The accountants saw this and agreed it was a clever idea. So after the conference the accountants decide to copy the engineers and save some money.

When they get to the station the accountants buy a single ticket for the return journey. To their astonishment, the engineers don't buy a ticket at all.

"How are you going to travel without a ticket?" says one perplexed accountant.

"Watch and you'll see" answers an engineer.

When they board the train, the three accountants cram into a restroom and the three engineers cram into another one nearby. Shortly after the train departs, one of the engineers leaves his restroom and walks over to the restroom where the accountants are hiding. He knocks on the door and says "Ticket please".